

C-Med Ambulatory Surgery Center staff physicians are recognized in this community for their expertise and excellence. As a result, our physicians are called upon to train other physicians and future physicians through our residency and fellowship programs.

While you are here, such practitioners may participate in your care. We want to reassure you that all practitioners in training are under the complete supervision of our staff physician at all times. If you have questions or concerns, please ask to speak to your physician.